This Chronicle sheet grants access to the following:

Aggressive Researcher: You have proven your mettle in Absalom's greatest libraries, and in the course of your research, you uncovered many facts that were not immediately relevant but might one day prove useful. You can cross this boon off your Chronicle sheet before attempting a Knowledge (arcana, history, or planes) check in order to treat your final check result as if it were 25, even if you are not trained in the skill. Alternatively, you may instead gain a +5 bonus on the check.

Acquainted with Aslynn: The entity known as Aslynn knows who you are and what you did in the Forae Logos. Whether this is to your advantage or detriment is as yet unknown.

Impossible Feat: The extraordinary actions possible within a dream might not be possible while awake, but you nonetheless dream of performing a similarly spectacular deed. You may cross this boon off your Chronicle sheet before attempting a skill check, saving throw, or attack roll to add 1d6 to the result of your check. If you roll a 6, roll the six-sided die again and combine the results. You may repeat this process up to twice for a maximum additional bonus of +18.

322's Foe: You have pursued the elusive elf known as 322 and uncovered an amulet imbued with her occult energy. You gain access to the following unique magic item at the listed discount.

Heartstone of the Wronged (Aura moderate evocation and transmutation; CL 8th; Slot neck; Discounted Price 8,000 gp): One larger glassy talisman that resembles a night hag's heartstone hangs from this amulet of obsidian beads. Its wearer gains immunity to disease. Once per day as an immediate action when she fails a saving throw against an effect that would cause confusion, she can activate the amulet to attempt a second saving throw with a +2 insight bonus and use the second result. Finally, if the wearer is an oracle with the dark tapestry mystery, she treats her effective oracle level as 2 higher when determining the effects of the many forms revelation.
