

Kyle DuFours, age 35

Kyle was born Tuesday October 13 1981

Kyle grew up in LA, attended Hemery High School

Kyle lettered in Basketball, and was something of a bully

Kyle remembers being overcome, with group of friends, with predatory tendencies and pack-like behavior, and committing a string of violent crimes, after trespassing into a hyena exhibit at the zoo

Kyle and his buddies stole the school's pig mascot, and had a midnight barbecue

When called into the principals office on suspicion of taking the pig, the pack attacked the principal Flutie, and in a sort of rabid rage . . . killed him with their bare hands, rending and tearing at his flesh -- even swallowing some of the dying man's flesh

The police judged the whole affair to be a wild animal attack

Kyle and the gang had chased some kid into the zoo when closed, and followed her into the hyena exhibit, where a weird muddle-aged man was made up like a tribal shaman and the high school kid was fighting him

That night is a blur, but Kyle remembers the man with the make-up being pushed into the hyena cage by the kid, hearing the hyenas attacking the man (and devouring him) and the strange excess violent feelings left him and the rest of the game

Kyle's old friends refused to talk about it – not that Kyle pushed hard. he had felt the same, and the authorities blamed wild animals

The police blotter and papers reported that the man, named Ted Shackleford, had just joined the zoo and was "attacked and killed by hyenas while cleaning out their cage"

Kyle's friends drifted apart

Kyle decided to go to college across the country, at Gerogetown, on a basketball scholarship; and while Kyle was good, he was never great

After graduation Kyle went through a string of jobs (roofing, auto sales, construction), and he has his contractor's license in Maryland

In 2005 he married Melissa Dalton, in 2007 is daughter Bailey was born, in 2010 his son Eion was born

In 2012 Melissa divorced him (citing Kyles nightmares, and associated streaks of vicious anger and irritability). Melissa gained full custody of the children.

In 2015 Kyle remarried Priscilla Dawkins-Wyatt, a CPA who had helped Kyle through an IRS audit, becoming step-father to her daughters Elise and Bridget (born in 2003 and 2010 respectively)

In early 2017 Priscilla demanded that Kyle seek treatment for his night terrors, and strange memories, leading Priscilla to believe that Kyle had been abused as a child

So Kyle checked himself in to the Wyndcliff hospital

FUDGE points: (10):

+10 5

Attributes (6):

+6	Body	Great	+2
+0	Perception	Fair	+0
-3	Status	Mediocre	-1
+3	Will	Good	+1

Skills (18):

-1	Academia	Terrible	-3
+4	Building	Great	+2
+3	Cunning	Good	+1
+3	Fighting	Good	+1
+1	Nimbleness	Mediocre	-1
+3	Outdoors	Good	+1
+2	Social	Fair	+0
+3	Sports	Good	+1

Gifts: (12):

+6 Contacts - construction and local support businesses (suppliers, labor, banks, planning board, lawyers)

+6 Fated: After a roll, but before announcing the result, may add one additional FUDGE die; When a Fudge point is used to determine the result without rolling the result is +5 (instead of +4)

Faults (-6):

-6 Hospitalized diagnosed PTSD and False Memory Syndrome, with attendant stigma