Items Found During This Scenario

Energized by the World Engine: Whether you used Miloslav's blueprints or your own strength, you have stored a fraction of the World Engine's power. As a swift action you may either touch a weapon to grant it the shocking burst weapon quality for 1 minute or apply the Elemental Spell (electricity) metamagic feat to a spell as you cast it without increasing the spell's level or casting time. Any electricity damage dealt by the spell or weapon property deals full damage to incorporeal creatures. When you use this boon, cross it off your Chronicle sheet.

Mantle of the Black Rider (Hunt for the Mad Monk): The unorthodox tactics of Rasputin's soldiers failed to stop you, and in turn the Mantle of the Black Rider grows in power. Once per day as a swift action you may gain a +1 bonus on attack rolls for 1 round. This bonus decreases by 1 for every attack you make. For every additional Mantle of the Black Rider boon that this character possesses, the bonus increases by 1 to a maximum of a +6 bonus. You may not benefit from more than one Mantle of the Black Rider boon at a time.

FRONTOVIK'S GAS MASK

Aura moderate abjuration; CL 7th

Slot head; Price 17,000 gp; Weight 2 lbs.

DESCRIPTION

A frontovik's gas mask has the appearance of a typical Zelinsky-Kummant gas mask used by the Russian army. The mask allows its wearer to breathe freely, even underwater or in a vacuum, as well as making its wearer immune to harmful gases and vapors, including inhaled diseases, poisons, and magic spells such as cloudkill and stinking cloud. In addition, the wearer can see through magical and normal clouds, fogs, mists, and similar effects that grant concealment, but only so long as the wearer is within the area of such concealment. A frontovik's gas mask does not grant any other kind of vision (such as darkvision or low-light vision). Wearing a gas mask imposes a -2 penalty on hearing- and sight-based Perception checks.
