This Chronicle sheet grants access to the following:

Chesed Trendsetter (The Exchange): You have helped change Chesed's economic policy, allowing the Exchange faction to be at the forefront of this evolving mercantile landscape. The surge of new goods make it especially easy to find what you want to buy; you can spend up to 3 Prestige Points when purchasing an item to temporarily increase your effective Fame score by twice the number of Prestige Points spent for the purposes of determining your purchase limit.

Chesed Monopolist (The Exchange): You have helped the Exchange faction exploit the crusaders bound for Mendev by charging exorbitant prices. You gain an additional generic Prestige award (Guide to Pathfinder Society Organized Play 26) that allows you to acquire a single item worth 1,500 gp or less once per session at a cost of 3 Prestige Points. Items purchased in this way are worth 0 gp and cannot be sold.

☐ Crusader Star (Silver Crusade): Your efforts in Chesed have helped crusaders bound for Mendev to arrive without selling off critical resources to afford the trip. In recognition of this deed and your ongoing heroics, Queen Galfrey of Mendev has awarded you the Crusader Star, one of the highest civilian medals for service to the nation. You can check one of the boxes preceding this boon to use the medal to requisition a +1 holy weapon (or 10 pieces of ammunition) for the duration of an adventure. Alternatively, you can use the medal as an additional focus when casting a spell with the good descriptor; you must check a box, which applies the benefits of the Empower Spell metamagic feat to the spell without increasing its caster level.

Rare Generator: You discovered a damaged generator from which you are able to siphon a small amount of the energy into a technological device. You can cross this boon off your Chronicle sheet to restore 2 charges to a timeworn weapon, timeworn armor, or another timeworn device. If you have the Technologist feat, you instead restore 1d4+1 charges to the item. This boon can only restore charges to a technological item that has at least 1 charge remaining.

Sky Key Component (Numeria): You have recovered one of the five lost components of the strange relic known as the Sky Key. This piece once belonged to Toggrim, whose descendants now live in Chesed.

☐ Starmetal Stockpile: During your adventure in Numeria, you found a large amount of rare skymetals (Pathfinder Campaign Setting: Technology Guide 56-57). You can check the box that precedes this boon in order to purchase a single weapon or suit of armor made of horacalcum, noqual, or siccataite at its listed cost. You can only purchase one such item using this boon, even if you later sell the weapon or armor.

☐ Tipping the Balance (Liberty's Edge): You have established the Liberty's Edge faction as a force for good in Numeria, and some escaped thralls are willing to smuggle one of the Technic League's rare devices out of the region for you. You may check the box preceding this boon in order to purchase a single timeworn object from the following list: arc rifle, force field (any), laser sight, nanite gun (any), null blade, scatterlight suit (any), or zero pistol (see the Technology Guide for more information). The item has half its maximum charges and has a purchase price equal to one-quarter its listed market price. You may only purchase one such object, even if you later sell it.
